Chicago Business Journal announces Women of Influence

Feb 22, 2018, 11:40am CST

The Chicago Business Journal is proud to announce its 2018 Women of Influence.

The women we're recognizing here are women who've made an impact both professionally and in their communities.

They've found success in a range of businesses affecting the Chicago economy, including finance, real estate, media and entertainment. They've also been active in mentoring younger executives, working with nonprofit organizations and pursuing charitable endeavors.

You'll read more about each of these women in the coming weeks, as we profile each of these accomplished executives. Until then, click on the gallery above to meet the group — our Women of Influence for 2018.
